

2695

Topic Category: 4123-ASIP Gene expression in cancer

First Author: Oluchukwu Okonkwo

University of Pennsylvania

#2b Bronx, NY 10463

United States

Phone: 9178337113

okonkwo@sas.upenn.edu

First Author is a: Undergraduate

First Author is a member of: American Society for Investigative Pathology

First Author Degree: BA, BS, or equivalent

Presentation Preference: Indifferent

Sponsor: Arupa Ganguly

Sponsor Phone: 2158983122

ganguly@pennmedicine.upenn.edu

Sponsor's Society: Biochemistry - American Society for Biochemistry and Molecular Biology (ASBMB) - Host Society

Keywords: 1. Retinoblastoma 2. Next Generation sequencin

Search for Hidden Germline Mutations in Bilateral Retinoblastoma

Oluchukwu Okonkwo. University of Pennsylvania, Bronx, NY

Retinoblastoma (RB) is a cancer in the retina that develops in children usually under the age of five and can cause blindness, loss of the affected eye, or death by metastasis.